

At its Annual General Meeting (18 July 2013), the British Academy elected 42 new Fellows, each of them a highly distinguished academic, recognised for their outstanding research and work across the humanities and social sciences.

Timothy Shallice, Emeritus Professor of Neuropsychology, University College and Senior Professor at SISSA has been welcomed into the Academy.

DOWNLOAD & Press Release (from The British Academy)